

Outdoor Maths Challenge

On Friday 24th May the children of Hintlesham and Chattisham took part in an outdoor maths challenge morning. The children were split up into their buddy pairs and then worked through a carousel of activities based on various aspects of the whole maths curriculum that could have an outdoor focus. These activities were differentiated to accommodate the range of abilities that would pass through and included such concepts as: Andy Goldsworthy art, Orienteering, Digits in Nature and Time including Roman Numerals.

What an amazing morning they all had. Comments from the children included: "This has been great fun." "My favourite was finding doubles and estimating, it was really hard!" "I think we have been learning differently today but I loved it." These were accompanied but much smiling and laughter while they learned together and alongside each other.
